DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1-4, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by O'Toole et al. (United States Patent 5,889,856), hereinafter referenced as O'Toole.

Regarding claim 1, O'Toole discloses an ADSL integrated line card with digital splitter and POTS CODEC without bulky analog splitter. In addition, O'Toole discloses method for DC feed control for a line card, comprising: receiving a signal from a subscriber line comprising at least one of a voice component and a DC component; converting the voice component of the signal to a digital voice signal using an analog-to-digital converter to allow further processing of the digital voice signal; converting the DC component of the signal to a digital signal using the analog-to-digital converter employed to convert the voice component of the signal; and adjusting a DC feed to the subscriber line based on the digital signal, as disclosed at column 6, line 30 through column 8, line 29 and exhibited in figures 5 and 6.

Regarding claim 2, O'Toole discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 1), in addition, O'Toole discloses wherein adjusting the DC feed comprises; integrating the digital signal; and adjusting the voltage provided to the subscriber line based on the integrated signal, as disclosed at column 6, line 30 through column 8, line 29 and exhibited in figures 5 and 6.

Regarding claim 3, O'Toole discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 1), in addition, O'Toole discloses wherein adjusting the DC feed comprises adjusting a current level applied to the subscriber line, as disclosed at column 6, line 30 through column 8, line 29 and exhibited in figures 5 and 6.

Regarding claim 4, O'Toole discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 2), in addition, O'Toole discloses wherein allowing further processing of the digital voice signal comprises providing the digital voice signal to a CODEC for further processing, as disclosed at column 6, line 30 through column 8, line 29 and exhibited in figures 5 and 6.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 5-15, 20-25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Pang et al. (United States Patent 6,671,373), hereinafter referenced as Pang.

Regarding claim 5, Pang discloses a method and apparatus for DC feed control. In addition, Pang discloses a method for DC feed control for a line card, comprising: determining if the line card is operating in a current limit region of a DC feed curve; synthesizing a curve in the current limit region of the DC feed curve; determining a loop voltage based on the synthesized curve; and applying the loop voltage to the subscriber line, as disclosed at column 4, line 26 through column 7, line 33 and exhibited in figures 2-5.

Regarding claim 6, Pang discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 5), in addition Pang discloses generating a current value proportional to a loop current flowing from the subscriber line; and determining if the line card is operating in the current limit region of the DC feed curve in response to generating the current value, as disclosed at column 4, line 26 through column 7, line 33 and exhibited in figures 2-5.

Regarding claim 7, Pang discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 6), in addition Pang discloses wherein determining if the line card is operating in the current limit region of the DC feed curve in response to generating the current value includes determining if the loop current is greater than a first preselected value, as disclosed at column 4, line 26 through column 7, line 33 and exhibited in figures 2-5.

Regarding claim 8, Pang discloses everything claimed as applied above (see claim 5), in addition Pang discloses determining the loop voltage in at least one of an anti-saturation region and a resistance feed region in response to determining the line card is not operation in the current limit region.

Regarding claim 9-15 and 20-25, they are interpreted and thus rejected for the reasons set forth above in the rejection of claims 5-8.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 16-18 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
